Landon is from a one stoplight town where he grew up with big dreams. He knew he had a special gift – and even at a young age he was ready to show off his amazing voice. These days, he can't go anywhere without his guitar. From the Vikings stadium to Germany, Landon has seen the world already, just from his musical chops. In terms of genres, Landon loves pop, R&B, ballads, and more – give him a microphone and watch him work. He's currently studying to be a real estate agent, but while he's hitting the books, he's dreaming of rocking a major stage.

THE DETAILS

- ① Landon grew up in a small town catching frogs in his backyard and playing with friends 24/7. He ran around the neighborhood with four siblings, which is where he became the competitive person he is today. Every soccer game felt like the World Cup, and to this day, his siblings still talk smack to each other.
- ② As a kid, all he did was sing in the house, whether it was voice lessons or just for fun. All his siblings wanted was for him to shut up, but he never listened and kept pursuing his dream. Now, his siblings never ask him to keep it down.
- ③ His music career kicked off when he released a song as a teenager – and within the first week, it had a million streams.
- ④ He is about to wrap up his real estate exams and become a certified real estate agent. Landon has to pay the bills, so he is making sure he has a backup plan to make things happen while he builds his musical resumé.
- ⑤ He is currently in Germany working with a boy band called 'Bout Last Night, where they are recording and writing songs daily. He says it's the biggest challenge he's ever had musically, but loves going to work with his friends every day.
